

TAKE CHARGE TODAY

FALL 2017

BUSY SUMMER

Summer '17 was another busy few months for our National Master Educator Team as they trained teachers in several states to use Take Charge Today's curriculum in the classroom.

We sent teams to Arizona's CTE Annual Conference, met teacher friends at the National Academy Foundation (NAF) Summer Conference in Dallas, Texas and sent another team to train teachers at the annual American Association of Family & Consumer Science (AAFCS) Conference also held in Dallas. One of our Master Educators traveled to Greensboro, North Carolina to give several sessions at their summer CTE Conference and another Master Educator landed in Charleston, West Virginia to provide training at the annual WV State Auditor's Teacher Conference, while yet another Master Educator drove to Kalamazoo, Michigan to present new & updated TCT lessons at the Michigan FACS summer conference.

One of our Arkansas Master Educators presented at two different conferences in her home state this summer too! So yes, it's been a busy summer for our TCT Team! Finally, a very successful multi-day training was held in Huntsville, Alabama. TCT partnered with Redstone Federal Credit Union to provide two full days of training on all things take Charge Today.

This partnership was an excellent way to bring our team directly to a state or regional area with the help of funding from Redstone.

If you are a teacher, community educator, CTE supervisor, or Administrator that would like to bring TCT to your district, state or region of the country, please feel free to reach out to us and let's work together to find funding opportunities to make it happen in 2018!

WHAT'S NEW?

New	Check Out	Coming Soon
Finding an Apartment Assessment	Authentic Learning ideas for the classroom	Fake News Active Learning Tool
Paying Your Income Taxes (Spring)	Infographics	Lawn Boy reading literacy Active Learning Tool
“Wall Street: Money Never Sleeps” Active Learning Tool		Additional Video Demonstrations
“Mary Poppins” Active Learning Tool (Spring)		Updated Introductory Lessons

MONEYTEACH

IN THE KNOW

There is a new section on MoneyTeach.org called In the Know! Here you can find articles from prominent educators and professionals active in the field of personal finance and financial education. Take a look for tips, articles, and information you can apply in your own financial education classes.

Wondering how to get a required financial literacy course in your school? Read the latest, “Roadmap for Promoting Financial Literacy in Your Community.”

NEW CURRICULA

MoneyTeach is proud to announce several new curriculum providers offering excellent free financial literacy resources for teachers. Along with Take Charge Today and the NEFE High School Financial Planning Program, MoneyTeach now has resources from the FDIC’s Money Smart Curriculum, PwC’s Earn Your Future Curriculum and the Mu$eum of American Finance’s curriculum. Create your free account today at www.moneyteach.org.

